LEGISLATURE ADJOURNED

State Lawmakers Take a Rest Until Monday Morning.

MANY BILLS IN THE SENATE

Both Houses Elected Officers Speaker Takes Second Oath of Office Pueblo Contest.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, Jan. 4.—The third day session of the state legislature is at an end and the members have decided that they need rest, hence they adjourned until [illegible] Monday morning. With the exception of the introduction of 27 bills in the senate nothing new [illegible] was transacted during the day.

At the morning session of the senate a small stir was created by Senator [illegible] the speaker of the house, censured for what Barela thought was a very indiscreet act in giving a reporter the details of a little tilt that occurred between the governor and the speaker yesterday, after the governor had finished his message. Barela said that only three persons heard the trouble and he accused Montgomery of telling it. The senate, however, did not feel disposed to censure the new speaker, so the matter was dropped.

At the afternoon joint session Colonel Montgomery denied that anything in the nature of a misunderstanding had occurred between him and the governor. The speaker said he merely in a joking way told his excellency that he had in his message given the senate of [illegible] bill which the house passed [illegible] collection was that the house passed it and the senate rejected it. The rest of the morning session was given over to the introducing of 27 new bills.

A bill to give state central committees the power to settle all disputes in their political parties regarding names, emblems and candidates was introduced by Senator Rush. [illegible] bill providing a penalty for trespassing. A committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions regarding the deaths of Stanley Stokes and Senator Gallagher. Senator Stewart introduced a joint resolution on the death of Nathaniel P. Hill reciting that since [illegible] Nathaniel P. Hill, a former senator of the United States from Colorado, died; and that in his public career and business enterprises he added in an unusual degree to the moral, intellectual and material advancement of his state and [illegible] States and proprietor of one of the leading journals of the great west he championed the rule of the people and [illegible] metallurgist he gave to the miners of Colorado the first successful process for the reduction of gold ores and as a citizen he led in the philanthropic work and offered a splendid example of upright conduct [illegible].

Sergeant-at-Arms Frank Lee was called to the speaker's stand and took the oath of office.

Mr. Bell of Trinidad asked for information and wanted to know if the speaker had been sworn in as speaker. The speaker thought it wasn't necessary, but that he was willing to swear at any time.

The result was practically the same as announced in the Gazette [illegible] on elections [illegible] the house committee to report its findings of [illegible] Pueblo Monday morning. It is generally a foregone conclusion that the Republican members [illegible] from that county and the [illegible] Democrats [illegible] Republican members intend [illegible].

OLMSTEAD'S RESOLUTION

To Investigate Abridgement of Suffrage in the South

CAUSED SPIRITED STRUGGLE

Reapportionment Bill Was Taken Up But Attempt to Get Time For Vote Failed.

Washington, Jan. 4.—The house today had another spirited struggle over the Olmstead resolution to investigate the abridgement of the suffrage in certain southern states with a view to apportionment upon the actual basis of suffrage. It was finally referred to the [illegible] committee as the opposition desired it to go originally. Some of the Republican leaders were not in sympathy with the resolution. Mr. Olmstead tried to get Mr. Hopkins to agree that the committee would consider [illegible] the chairman of the census committee declined to make any pledge to that effect. The debate upon the resolution was marked by exceeding frankness. Some of the southern members avowed that the attempt to enfranchise the negro had been a lamentable failure in and the action of certain states in legally eliminating the blacks as factors at the polls, they said, was in the interest of civilization and progress. After the resolution had been disposed of the reapportionment bill was taken [illegible] for a vote on the bill failed, although the general impression is that the debate will conclude early next week.

The house voted 103 to 91 to consider the resolution, whereupon Mr. Richardson moved to recommit the resolution [illegible] Richardson's motion Mr. Olmstead demanded the previous question and notwithstanding some dilatory tactics by the Democrats with the assistance from several Republicans, the previous question was ordered 12 to 95.

Mr. Olmstead explained that his resolution had been offered not in antagonism to any of the [illegible] or state, but in favor of any section or state, but in order that the reapportionment might be based upon constitutional provisions.

Mr. Underwood (Ala.) made a warm speech in opposition to the resolution. He had hoped, he said, that such a resolution would not appear in the house. The real purpose of the fourteenth amendment had been to enfranchise [illegible] had failed [illegible] amendment had been successful for a time but in the end it had proved a lamentable [illegible] mistakes not only to the Democratic but to the Republican party. "The time had come now after the bitterness of the war was over, when the people of the south, in fairness and justice to themselves, and [illegible] trying not to press the negro race, but only to protect [illegible] maladministration, property against [illegible] from the north that they did not live among the negroes and did not understand the problem of [illegible]

"We of the south," said he, addressing the majority, "are trying to solve it faithfully to both races, and I appeal to you, if you are in favor of upbuilding the negro race, if you are in favor of protecting the investments which the north has sent there, to send this resolution to a committee and let it die there."

Mr. Williams (Miss.) said that of recent years some of the people of the south had listened to the siren voice of the north that [illegible] This resolution would pluck from the [illegible] the stars who had been partially [illegible] deceived the [illegible] placed over them. After declaring that the resolution was stupid and impracticable [illegible] the voting requirements of various other states, he made an ardent defense of the course of Mississippi and other southern states.

[illegible] civilization," said he, "who is not glad in his heart that, by constitutional and legal methods analogous to those adopted in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and other states, the south has solved this troublesome and almost unsolvable problem?"

Mr. Olmstead, the author of the resolution, said he did not want the resolution to die and would move its reference to the census committee if the chairman of that committee would agree to call the committee together to consider it within one week.

Chairman Hopkins said he was not in the mood to make a bargain today, but assured Mr. Olmstead that his committee would do its duty.

Mr. Olmstead then made the motion to refer, and it was carried without [illegible]

Mr. Hopkins immediately called up the reapportionment bill and opened the debate with a careful explanation of his bill. He stated that the majority of the census committee favored keeping the membership down [illegible] from considerations of economy and intelligent legislation.

Mr. Shafroth (Colo.) wanted Mr. Hopkins to explain how it was that Colorado would gain one representative under the system if the total number was 356 or 357 but would not if it was 357.

Mr. Hopkins replied that the fact which Mr. Shafroth cited was what was called years ago the "Alabama paradox." Any system, he said, would not deal out exact justice to every state. The membership was arbitrarily fixed at 357 which made the basis of representation 208,868. Dividing the population of the states by this divisor, 335 members were assigned. The other 22 members were assigned to those having the largest major fractions.

"The states which were opposed to this bill," he said, "were those which lose representatives under its operation." He said that the bill of the minority [illegible] Nebraska and [illegible] favoritism [illegible] each of which would lose one [illegible] representative under the basis of the figures prepared by the director of the census for a house of 356 members. Those two members, he said, were deliberately picked by the Burleigh bill from New York and Pennsylvania. He declared that a more unfair bill was never presented to the house than that fathered by the gentleman from Maine (Burleigh).

The Burleigh bill, he said, gave Maine a representative for each 173,617 inhabitants. If this ratio were taken in New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, New York would have five, Pennsylvania three and Illinois three more representatives than the bill allows them.

Mr. Shafroth cited the case of Colorado which would get an additional member if the house was to consist of 356 to 359, but would lose the additional member at 357, to show that the system upon which the bill was predicated was unjust.

At 5 o'clock the house adjourned.

THE ARMY BILL

Discussed For Five Hours by the Senate---Wide Range of Opinions.

Washington, Jan. 4.—For five hours today the senate discussed the army reorganization bill. The senate took a wide range at times, but was confined principally to the necessity for the increase in the regular army proposed in the pending measure. The Philippine question was threshed over at great length, but few really new points were advanced.

Some light progress was made toward the completion of the pending measure.

Mr. Jones (Ark.) offered a resolution directing the committee on military affairs to inquire upon what alleged facts the charges against Major [illegible] of the United States army, by Erastus Hawkes are based and report to the senate. He said the charges made by Hawkes against Major [illegible] of common knowledge [illegible] An army officer had been removed [illegible] some alleged bad conduct. The charges indicated that the army officer who remained in the service was as guilty as he removed. If so, he ought to be removed too. The resolution was referred to the committee on military affairs.

The Pettigrew Resolution.

The resolution offered by Mr. Pettigrew calling for information in reference to the Philippines was referred to the committee on the Philippines after a speech by Mr. Pettigrew, who said the President maintained there was no [illegible] war in the Philippines. The military committee [illegible] that war existed there and that at least 80,000 men would be required to suppress the rebellion.

"As the President and the military committee disagree," said Mr. Pettigrew, "it seems to me we ought to have the facts before we create an army of 100,000 men."

He hoped the resolution would not be sent to "that graveyard, the Philippine committee," but it was referred.

Another of Mr. Pettigrew's resolutions calling upon the president for information as to the necessity for an increase in the strength of the army, was referred to the committee on military affairs. The army bill [illegible] asked unanimous consent that the unobjected committee amendments in the [illegible]

Mr. Pettigrew objected, declaring that as his efforts to obtain information from the regular channels had been thwarted he proposed to have time to obtain it in some other way.

Wellington Demand.

Mr. Wellington, Maryland, demanded to know the intention of the administration with reference to the Philippine islands. If it was to force an annexation of the Philippines, then a large army would be necessary. He declared the country had been assured at the beginning of the Philippine trouble that it could be put down in five or six weeks, yet the situation was worse than ever.

"Those people cannot be put down," declared Mr. Wellington.

"Is the purpose of the administration to deprive them of self government? If so I am opposed to any such infamy."

Mr. Carter said the pith of Mr. Wellington's question was that the administration, to satisfy him must declare its present and future policy with respect to the Philippines.

"The senator can consult the record of congress for an answer to his question," said Mr. Carter.

"The president has no authority to decide what shall be done with the Philippines."

"The moment the treaty of peace was ratified," said Mr. Carter, "that moment it became the supreme law of the land. If the president had refused to maintain the sovereignty of the United States there he would have laid himself liable to impeachment."

Mr. Carter declared it was the intention of the United States to maintain the laws in the Philippines, to restore order and to protect property [illegible] that period congress would determine what the ultimate disposition [illegible]

Mr. Teller sharply criticized the pending measure as the entering wedge for a large standing army.

"You will not want 100,000 men," he declared, "but will want 200,000, and [illegible] for a hundred years. This measure is not intended merely to meet an emergency, but to [illegible] country a great standing army."

Mr. Teller said it would be easily possible to pass a bill in 48 hours that would provide for an army of 100,000 men or 200,000 men for service in the Philippines provided it was made to apply to purely emergency service and for a definite limited time.

He attacked the Philippine commission now in Manila for legislating for those in whom they had no interest.

"The czar of Russia," said he, "is an absolute czar. He has a council of 60 men who sit with him, but those men are Russians [illegible] they have the sympathy and ambitions of Russians. But these Americans in the Philippines are strangers to the country and to the people. Under the law they have a right to be there, but under God's law, which is higher, they have no place there at all. Their actions are the worst form of imperialism."

Mr. Caffery inquired whether in the circumstances he would vote to maintain the authority of the United States in the Philippines.

Teller's Position.

"As Mr. Lincoln announced in regard to the Mexican war," replied the Colorado senator, "a war that he did not believe in, he would vote for such a force as the government needed. So I have no doubt that as long as our flag floats in the Philippine archipelago I will [illegible] as I may, but vote to maintain the army and the flag there. If that is illogical, it is illogical because there is no better way out of it."

Mr. Proctor said he thought the Colorado senator was under a misapprehension as to what the army bill proposes to do. As he regarded the matter, the maximum force authorized by the bill was to be used only in the present emergency and there would be a return to the minimum of 54,000, which was the peace footing of the [illegible]. No one could tell when more troops might be needed in Alaska, Hawaii or Puerto Rico. Likewise there was possibility of the need of a larger American force in Cuba at the [illegible] of the Cubans themselves. And as for the Philippines, no one could doubt that for a considerable time, even if all demands should be granted, a large force of our troops must be kept in those islands.

Hoar's Amendment.

Mr. Hoar suggested a general amendment to the bill looking to the conciliation of the Filipinos and expressed the opinion that in time of peace we should have one soldier to 1,000 of our population. He did not therefore, he said, oppose the bill on the score of increase, but he did oppose it because of the avowed policy of military control of the islands.

"It is idle," he said, "to tell us that these people are not fit for self government." He quoted the president and naval officers to show that the Filipinos are an intelligent people and added:

"The way to prepare them for liberty is to set them free."

[illegible] be known there would be two opinions [illegible] people were generally convinced that the Filipinos were as capable of self government as they are, they would make no effort to continue the subjugation of those people in the interest of trade.

Mr. Hoar urged that it would be most desirable to have appointed a commission representing all phases of political life, men of the highest character and standing to ascertain the facts as to the Philippines and make them [illegible] He hoped such a commission would be appointed before the close of the present session.

Mr. Stewart (Nevada) supported the pending bill.

The senate then devoted an hour or more in perfecting the army bill by the addition of [illegible] amendments to which no objection was raised. Among the amendments passed over for future consideration was that relating to the establishment of a veterinary corps.

The senate at [illegible] went into executive session, and at [illegible] adjourned.

OUR PUBLIC BUILDING

Representative Bell Pushing the Matter Before the Committee Hull City Placer Case.

Special to the Gazette.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Representative Bell has been in conference with Chairman Mercer and members of the public buildings committee in an effort to secure favorable report upon the bill providing for the Colorado Springs public building. He today filed with the committee a copy of the Colorado Springs Gazette New Year edition and called attention to the phenomenal showing of postal receipts and postal business. Most of the members of the committee have visited Colorado Springs, and, appreciating its need of a creditable public building, say if any [illegible] reported this session that for Colorado Springs will surely be included.

[illegible] Hull City placer claims case, formerly withheld by the Watson Creek company, have been received by the secretary of the interior. They were today transmitted to the department of justice to be used in the proceedings against the Independence Town and Milling company.

SIX-DAY BICYCLE RACE

Boston, Jan. 4.—Archie McEachern led at the finish of the fifth day's riding at Park Square Garden. The only sensational incident of the day occurred just before the last hour, when Oscar Babcock stole a lap on the leaders. The only serious fall of the day was that of Stinson at 10.30 o'clock tonight and his mishap compelled him to have four stitches taken in a hip wound.

The scores at the 50th hour the day's finish were:

In the last mile McLean and Walthour fell but neither was seriously hurt.

MOLINEUX CASE.

New York, Jan. 4.—The World tomorrow will say:

General Edward Molineux has decided to appeal to the legislature to ascertain the cause of delay in settling the case of his son, Roland, convicted of murder in the first degree. He will ask, if necessary, that a committee be appointed to conduct an investigation and that a bill be enacted, limiting the time given to a trial judge within which he must pass on a case where the conviction was one of murder in the first degree.

NO HOLIDAY FOR ROBERTS

Already Immersed in Arduous Duties of War Office.

SCANT NEWS FROM KITCHENER

Colonel Williams Attacked the Invaders---Three Columns Still Pursuing De Wet.

[illegible] Earl Roberts of Kandahar and Pretoria is already immersed in his arduous duties at the war office. He will take no holiday.

There is no further news from Lord Kitchener, who, according to a Cape Town dispatch, is calling for 6,000 men to guard the Rand mines. Enlisting in Cape Colony continues active and 500 men will leave Cape Town for the north within the next few days.

Information regarding the invasion is scant. Colonel Williams attacked the eastern invaders January 1 near Middelburg, but failed to dislodge them. He has since been joined by Lieut. Colonel Grenfel, and the Boers have retired.

Advices from Maseru, Basutoland, dated yesterday say that three separate columns are still pursuing General De Wet, but with no success beyond taking 28 prisoners. Cannon firing is continuously heard.

General Brabant has arrived at Graaff Reinet. All the English have deserted Ficksberg, taking their stocks of grain across the border, and the Boers have looted the town. According to the Daily Mail's correspondent at The Hague, the directorate of The Netherlands-South African railway has applied to the Amsterdam courts for a suspension of payments.

The Chronicle advises that favorable attention should be given to a movement reported by its Montreal correspondent, to induce Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion premier, provided the colonial office consents, to proceed to South Africa as a commissioner empowered to intervene with a view to the restoration of peace.

GIGANTIC RAILROAD DEAL SAID TO BE PROGRESSING

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 4.—While no confirmation could be obtained here from an authoritative source of the reported combination of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, it is the general belief in well informed railway circles that the deal, if not already accomplished, in fact, is in process of consummation.

President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern, was naturally disinclined to talk upon the subject for publication, but in the course of an interview he had this to say:

"I have made no loan in Montreal. Does it not stand to reason that if I needed money I can get it without going to Canada? No deal by which we get control of any western line has yet been consummated. I will say, however, that some of the big lines hope, by getting together, to reduce working expenses. Any movement now on foot by the railroads is simply for the purpose of economizing."

Mr. Hill does not state that there is no deal under way. The announcement was made semi-officially today and the information did not come from a New York source, that the big deal by which [illegible] Hill-Morgan-Rockefeller interests were to secure control of the Northern Pacific and St. Paul roads is practically consummated, and that inside of a month the systems will be in effect one.

About three weeks ago, so the story goes, President Hill obtained a loan from Canadian capitalists of $28,000,000, and it is added that much of this money went for the purchase of Northern Pacific and St. Paul shares. In the vaults of the Great Northern treasurer, it is stated, repose the deposit slips showing that this immense sum was placed to the credit of President Hill in the Chemical National bank of New York city. The depositors were, it is asserted, Sir William Van Horne, president of the Canadian Pacific; R. B. Angus, multi-millionaire and director of the Bank of Montreal, and Lord Mount Stephen of Montreal.

President Hill will leave for New York next week, and it is stated that the sole object of his visit is to put the finishing touches upon the most gigantic railroad deal in recent years.

C. J. Earling, president of the St. Paul, who arrived here in Chicago late tonight, said the report of any deal involving the absorption of his road was not true.

BOOZ CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE AT WORK

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—The Booz congressional committee, which was recently appointed by Speaker Henderson for the purpose of making inquiry into the cause of the death of Oscar Booz at West Point and to investigate hazing in general at the military academy, began to take testimony today.

Three sessions were held, covering a period of time from 9 o'clock in the morning until midnight. The committee went to Bristol, the home of the Booz family, this morning and heard the testimony of four members of that family.

In the afternoon four physicians who attended Oscar Booz at West Point and tonight in Philadelphia two more physicians and other witnesses testified.

The congressional committee will again go to Bristol tomorrow to hear other witnesses and later in the day will sit in this city. Ex-Mayor Breth of Altoona, Pa., whose son, it is alleged, died from an ailment indirectly due to hazing at West Point, and former Cadet Burnham of Kentucky, a classmate of Booz, will appear before the committee tomorrow.

THE LONDON AND GLOBE FINANCE COMPANY MATTER

London, Jan. 4.—The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava spent a long time yesterday at the offices of the London and Globe Finance corporation, limited. It is rumored that he is a heavy personal loser by the difficulties but that Whitaker Wright quite recently loaned [illegible] to [illegible] is its largest creditor.

The Times, in its financial article, says: "We are able to deny that either the Yerkes group of the London and Southwestern Railway company has purchased the Baker street line although, we are not able to say whether a sale has actually occurred."

Both the Times and the Daily Telegraph advise the shareholders to insist upon a compulsory winding up of the company's affairs.

[illegible] on the stock exchange [illegible] believed to be partly due to the varying rumors about the London and Globe crisis but chiefly to the influence of Wall street dealings. Fears of a further rise in the Bank of England rate had also something to do with the decline but there was a better feeling after the closing due to the phenomenal rise in Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, which went as high as ten points above the lowest quotation of the day.

The Financial Times considers the American shake-out to be the outcome of the 5 per cent bank rate and asks what would happen if anything untoward occurred in New York. It declares that American trusts and bankers are heavily committed for a rise which already reaches a dangerous point and [illegible] the London market ought to apply caution [illegible]

[illegible] Minister Loomis in his mission. This is said at the state department to be limited entirely to the procuring of a judicial and equitable determination of the existing issues growing out of the asphalt franchises.

KANSAS SENATORSHIP.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 4.—Chester Baker formally withdrew from the race for United States senator today and left the field to J. R. Burton. A landslide toward Burton was started this morning when two [illegible] men came over to the Burton camp. Senator Baker [illegible] tonight thanking his friends for their work in his behalf. He went to his home in Leavenworth and [illegible] to serve out the remainder of his term.

A caucus of the Republican members of the legislature will be held Monday night when Mr. Burton will be nominated.

Some of the Populists of the legislature have begun to arrive and they will hold a caucus early next week and decide on a plan of action. The caucus will probably endorse Jerry Simpson for United States senator and give him a complimentary vote [illegible]

IMPROVE UNION PACIFIC.

YOU'RE WEAK Instead of Strong! Make Yourself a New Man! DR. GREENE'S NERVURA BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY.

Will Give You the Strength and Vigor of Perfect Manhood. Renews, Vitalizes and Invigorates Weak Men.

Old before his time! A broken-down miserable wreck, weak, nervous, discouraged!

The world to him seems a place of mist, peopled with ghostly beings, whose flitting to and fro about their daily tasks serves but to irritate him. He sneers at healthy amusements, and finds no comfort or pleasure in life.

He is sick and he does not know it. He drags about, and therefore thinks he is well. He is despondent and peevish, and weak, and he does not know that there are merely signals, some from the stomach crying for aid, others from the nerves [illegible], still others from the great life-current—the blood—moaning that it is so impeded and clogged with impurities that it cannot move.

He, and all others like him, will find immediate relief in Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. This is just what it was intended for. It never fails to make weak men strong and vigorous, puts new life, aim, strength, power and energy into them.

Dr. Greene's Nervura is New Life, Hope and Strength for Weak Men.

Mr. John D. Smith, electrician for the Thompson-Houston Electric Co., of Lynn, Mass., says: "[illegible] and is cured, it is his duty to tell others about it, that they, too, may get well. [illegible] had been working [illegible] night and day, could not (at regularly) and got only a few hours sleep at night. No man can stand that long, and I soon began to be prostrated. I could not sleep when I tried, and my food would not stay on my stomach. I was in a terrible condition, and was much alarmed. I went to doctors, but they did me no good. Learning of the wonderful good done by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, I determined to try it. It cured me completely of all my complaints. I eat heartily and sleep well, thanks to this splendid medicine. I believe it to be the best remedy in existence."

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the One Great Restorative Which Cures.

Dr. Greene, 35 West 14th St., New York City, is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He has remedies for all forms of disease, and offers to give free consultation and advice, personally or by letter. You can tell or write your troubles to Dr. Greene, for all communications are confidential, and letters are answered in plain sealed envelopes.

In contrast with the cold weather of the past week yesterday was truly a spring day, and had there been no snow on the ground, it might have been easily mistaken for a June day. The cold has been very intense here lately and reports from Lake Moraine show that the weather in the mountains has not been of the warmest. The thermometer at the latter place has been as low as 25 below zero the past week.

BRIEF CITY ITEMS.

SKATING—The ice continues to be fine and smooth and crowds of skaters may be seen at all hours on all the ponds and lakes that are available to skaters. Prospect seems to be the favorite place and there has been no accident there this year although hundreds if not thousands have skated on the lake already.

RUNAWAY HORSE—... of Fountain, must have been born under a lucky star. At any rate he had a remarkable escape from death yesterday afternoon. Yesterday he hitched up one of his horses to a buck-board and started to drive to town. Everything went along all right until he got in the city limits when the horse became frightened ... and started to kick and rear. Mr. Clarke kept his seat till the buggy turned over when he fell out and struck the ground head first. He was picked up and carried into Briggs and Cotton's drug store, near where the accident occured. It was found that his injuries were slight and that he had suffered mostly from being stunned. He was able to walk from the store, a few scratches about the head being all the marks that told of an accident. The buggy was broken into kindling wood, and the horse ran to the Rio Grande depot where he was stopped and brought back to his owner.

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN—The city schools will resume work next Monday after a vacation of ... weeks. The new Bristol building will be opened at the same time and will run full time. Heretofore this building has only had half day sessions but it will hold school all day after this. The dedication of the Bristol and Steele buildings will be held after the latter is finished.

JUSTICE COURT—In the case of Camp vs. Jennings in Justice Ruby's court judgment was given to the plaintiff for $... and costs which was the amount of the suit.

CHANGE OF FIRM—The Post Office Book store, which is commonly called Briscoe's, has changed hands and will hereafter run under the firm name of Briscoe and Ammerman. W. C. Briscoe and Co., who have owned the store since it changed from the name of Briscoe Brothers, will retire from the business and W. C. Briscoe will probably locate in Texas although he has not decided upon that place as certain. Mr. R. S. Briscoe, Jr., and Dr. C. B. Ammerman, of Colorado City, are the members of the new firm and will continue to do business at the old stand next to the post office. Mr. Briscoe has lived in this city for years. ... since he sold his interest in the store to his brother, Bert Briscoe has been ... well known physician and surgeon of Colorado City, where he is the city physician and resident physician of the Colorado Midland ... The store has been invoiced and will be immediately taken charge of by the new firm who will restock and otherwise improve it. Mr. Harry Lee who has clerked in the store for a long time will still be in his old place.

OPENED BIDS—The county commissioners yesterday opened the bids for supplies for the county. No contracts were awarded. The commissioners state that they have run up against an undertakers' trust in this city, as each of the firms put in a bid for burying the dead at the same figure which is $2 in excess of the figure for last year.

COLDS

We all have colds; you can try it and see. You will find the edge taken off in a night; and, in three or four days, you'll be wondering whether that cold amounted to anything anyhow.

That's relief. If you tackle it quick, the relief is quick and complete; if you wait till the cold is in full possession of head and lung, why, of course, the relief is quick if it comes in a week.

A little emulsion won't clear and restore your whole breathing-machine in a minute; don't be looking for miracles.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

BESIEGED IN PEKING.

Incidents in the Life of the Legationers while Under Fire in the British Compound.

Miss Cecile E. Payen's diary of the siege of the legations in Peking, in which the Europeans were cooped up and under fire for many weeks last summer, is published in the January Century. We have selected a number of passages for quotation:

June 29. Sir Robert Hart (Director of Customs) makes us a call every day. He says we cheer him up, although we do not stop our sewing. We look forward to his visits, for he is full of anecdote, tells us about the Chinese, and recites poetry of his own composition.

July 3. This morning at three ... American ... and ... give up but ... extend ... meantime ... was ... July ... We ... compelled ... still ... Mrs. ... ladies ... floor ... against ... eating and living-rooms out of sight ... for Mr. Conger and Dr. Martin ... table ... dishes ... holding our plates in our laps ... cups and glasses placed on the ... picnic fashion. All napkins have been turned into sand bags ... Mrs. Conger has ... and ... Miss Condit Smith ... room they use for dining-room ... The other ... used for the ladies ... and Mrs. Bainbridge have one room. Dr. Coltman's wife and six children sleep, eat, dress, and live in one room. The Colemans do their cooking on their own stove, which is placed in the yard, and the three other families have to take turns in doing their cooking on one stove.

July 11. The firing did not cease all night. During the worst of it our coolies brought a lot of flour and meal in here which they had been making over in the Peking hotel. Mr. Chamot ... of ... has been ... hotel for three years. His wife is from San Francisco. They are both fearless. They have set up grinding mills, and make all our flour and bake the bread, which is made of coarse brown flour and sours very quickly. Mr. and Mrs. ... to see them drive into the compound. They have to come quite a little way along Legation street, across the bridge ... within our barricades, but open to continual firing. Mrs. Chamot sits in the cart, gun in hand, while Mr. Chamot sits out on the shafts (a cart conveniently holds only one person). Both smiling and happy, with no signs of fear on their faces.

July 24. This is Mrs. Conger's birthday. Each of us presented her with a little gift. I made for her a water-color sketch of the house we are now living in, which was executed under considerable firing. It is also the birthday of the emperor of China, to whom we send our blessings and fervent ones at that.

It should be explained, with regard to our food supplies, that in retreating to the British legation each family carried in its private provisions, and use was also made of the stock of the two foreign stores on Legation street. Mr. Conger's head boy Wang procured a lot of pigeons. On our way in, June 20, we passed a flock of about 50 sheep, which were taken into the compound. There were also 11 cows. These animals were killed first, with the exception of a few sheep kept for the sick. For horse-meat, we had about 50 mules and perhaps 30 horses; the latter consisting mostly of Sir Claude Macdonald's race horses. One day toward the end five horses were killed before one was found fit to eat, as the horses had become diseased. A few persaddle horses were brought in from the other legations ... the troops arrived ... horse was dispatched ... was to have been offered on the next ... one of the six that survived the siege.

August 11, 10 a. m. We passed the most dreadful night of the whole siege ... impossible and had to yell to the top of our voices to make ourselves heard. It is one of the mysteries of the siege that we are still of this world. We had our low cannon going and many large guns were being fired upon us from the imperial walls ... was up. There was a welcome sound far off, making us feel that relief was near, or many would have collapsed at this terrible moment. One German was killed, and Mitchell ... was badly wounded during the night. Poor fellow, he has been so brave, and we are so proud of him, that it is too bad that he should become disabled just when relief is at hand.

As I write this the cannon of our troops can be distinctly heard. It is like a distant roar of continual thunder. Everybody in this compound is so excited that we hardly know what we are doing.

August 15, 7 a. m. ... at last! Our relief came yesterday at 2 p. m. The Sikhs, four thousand East Indians, under the British were the first to march into the compound. ... We ... relief ... than we ... and seemed so proud and happy to find any of us still alive. Oh what a sight! Such wild excitement, such shouting, and such hand-shaking among the people. Never were soldiers more welcome. Following the Sikhs came the British; then eighteen hundred Americans under General Chaffee. How tired and worn our poor fellows did look! Hearing the dreadful firing upon us last night, they thought it would be impossible for us to hold out; so they forced the marching.

STRIKES IN IDAHO SPRINGS

Several Important Ones Made Within the Past Few Days—Old Properties as Well as New.

(Special Correspondence.)

Idaho Springs, Jan. 3.—Seaton mountain is pushing to the fore again and work is being done all over this great mountain; the upper reaches have been somewhat neglected of late, more attention having been paid to the locality opened up by the Newhouse tunnel.

The old Lake mine, which already has a record for over $150,000, with practically no work below the adit level ... into a big ore body that assays about $50 per ton. This strike is made in the ... titles for 20 years past. The value of ... ... will probably prove a large ... the Lake besides its smelting ore, is also a shipper of mill dirt in considerable ... is the same vein as the big Franterlace-Kokomo and Aduanget which, as published in these columns, was recently purchased by the John Owens Mining company, now operating the Amy C. and other big veins along the line of the Newhouse tunnel.

Philip Mixell has commenced work on the Cleveland mine, above the Lake and between that and the Crown Point and Virginia. With him he has associated strong financial friends from the east and has acquired a large number of adjoining claims. Mr. Mixell now feels repaid for all his hard work at the top of Seaton; he has been trying for years to consolidate this group with his own—the Clarissa group—and now he has been successful, is going to take out the ore he knows exists there. The shaft on the Cleveland is down four hundred ... and ... water, but is now to be emptied for the first time ... The ore is very rich, some running as high as $300 per ton, the average being about $75 per ton. Meantime there is an immense amount of mill dirt which will be treated at his mill. A new plant of machinery has been installed and another producer will now be returned to the list.

The Crown Point and Virginia mine, at the extreme top of Virginia canon, continues its development work and big output. It is now preparing to supply the Allan mill ... which has been lately completely changed over from a stamp mill to the latest style concentrator plant with from 15 to 25 tons per day. This company is also working the Franklin mine, Gilson gulch, which is a very old producer with a big record. There are many thousands of tons of low grade in the stopes that will be taken out now, and shipped to the Allan mill with profit to mine and mill.

The Main Trunk mine, which vein was cut in the Newhouse tunnel some time ago is shipping some nice ore through the tunnel, from which laterals have been driven on the vein. The outlook is very promising and from now on we shall expect to hear of strikes in quick succession.

The Garden mine is reported to be in excellent ore, a great deal of development having been planned for the new year and a much larger output is anticipated by the management. The Garden vein has already been cut in the Newhouse tunnel it is supposed, and sinking to connect is the order of the day. The same may be said of the Sun and Moon, which immediately adjoins the Garden; a fine body of ore is being mined now and Manager Lewis is quite earnest in his endeavor to get depth so as to connect with the Newhouse also. The Sun and Moon is one of our regular shippers and has helped keep up the camp's average values, by its occasional very rich lots sent to the smelter.

The Gem and Gem Extension mines, controlled by Renshaw & Co., are doing lots of work, both on top, at the mines, and from the Newhouse tunnel, where they are driving on their vein and opening up large bodies of mineral and from where they intend starting an upraise as soon as they arrive under their shaft, which is at the same time being sunk to connect. People away from Idaho Springs can scarcely conceive what this big bore is doing for this district. It is opening up such a wonderful lot of mineral territory that in the natural order of things, mills and probably smelters will be erected on the ground owned by the Newhouse people at the mouth of their tunnel, and will alone be the means of more than doubling the population of Idaho Springs, but it is doing more, it is proving that deep mining pays in Idaho Springs district fully as well as in other places and that our ore bodies are simply enormous and increase vastly in size below 1,000 feet from the surface.

Another instance of this is the strike just made on the Argo at Lamartine. Two miners, Charles Johnson and Chris Christiansen some six years ago took a lease on this property and agreed to run a tunnel in from the creek on condition of their being allowed to work any veins cut ... to surface on payment of a good royalty. This tunnel they have run by hand over 1,200 feet, and in doing this took out some nice little pockets of ore. In raising on one of these lately, at the ... of the tunnel and 50 feet up, they have struck a pretty shoot, tests of which just sent down to the sampling works showed it to be worth $... gold and over 200 ounces silver per ton. The streak is from six inches to 12 inches wide and bids fair to develop into a bonanza for them. Not far above here and on the same vein in '92 a surface pocket was taken from the Cecil mine, worth about $40,000, and from the Argo fully as much has been taken at different times, while the Lamartine, in which district these mines are, is too well known to require particulars at this time.

above stated we may expect for 1901 the output to double that of 1900 for the reason that all the ground that has been opened through a thorough development of the many properties that have been placed under the head of non-productive, will be in condition to commence stoping the ore and shipping it to the mills and smelters in the early spring.

The Logan mine, situated near the Yellow Pine in Sunbeam gulch, near Crisman, has produced during the past year over $100,000. The ore has been phenomenally rich in gold, and full of beautiful specimens of great value. Work has been conducted with great care for future production and the management claims there is in sight $250,000, which will be extracted and shipped to the samplers during 1901. It is owned by Thomas R. Mann.

Close to the Logan, George R. Williamson is working his famous silver mine, for which reports say he has been offered $650,000, which I very much doubt. The property produces a very high grade of silver ore, and those familiar with the mine and its owner say when Mr. Williamson is in want of a little ready cash he ... a ton or two of ore and sends it to the sampling works and ... The Yellow Pine ... has been worked for many years as during my ... shaft in the tunnel was full of water and had been in this condition for some time, and the back of the tunnel all caved in, thus preventing any examination of this Yellow Pine lode. The ore is taken from the vein that runs into the Logan on the west, and crosses the general course of the veins of this camp. The Logan is rich in gold, while the Vaneleure mine is purely a silver lode. It is a strange phenomenon geologically, and no reason has been advanced why one group of lodes should be silver bearing and those in close proximity should be gold producers of high grade in the same geological formation.

It is a sad mistake in allowing the Atlas mill at Boulder close operations for want of ore. The great cry with mining men of this county has ... immense quantities of ore mined throughout the county.

The new mill almost ready to start up at Magnolia under such favorable auspices and great promise of saving the values contained in the ores, will also have to close its doors unless the mine owners take greater interest in furnishing it with mineral.

The B. and M. has made a splendid showing during the year just closed, and opens the new century with bright auspices and grander ore bodies than ever before.

W. W. Degge, manager of the Wellington Gold Mining company, says the President mine will soon be in condition to commence taking out ore for shipments.

In sinking the shaft the ore body gradually opens and becomes more solid until the stability of the vein can no longer be doubted and the future of the property is full of promise.

THE GAZETTE'S DENVER MINING LETTER

(Special Correspondence.)

Denver, Colo., Jan. 4.—The mineral output of Colorado is a revelation to those who are skeptical on our great mining industry. While I shall not attempt to give figures or estimates of the grand total of precious metals throughout our several mining camps, yet a word in praise of the greatest mining camp in the world, Cripple Creek, may not be out of place in this communication. When the production of one gold district reaches the marvelous total of twenty-two and a half millions of dollars for one year of mining, the figures are staggering, and the mind can scarcely conceive the enormous amount of money produced from the mines of Cripple Creek. Each year the production of gold and silver grows with magnificent proportions, until today the whole mining world congratulates Colorado as the greatest gold state on earth. Without exception every mining district of Colorado has increased in the output of the precious metals for 1900 over any other year in her prosperous mining history. Gilpin, the little golden county, has kept pace with her advancing sister sections, with an increase of $600,000 over 1899, and expects to do better during the first year of the new century.

Boulder county has done well under the most trying circumstances. It seems that no effort has been made by a large majority of the mine owners and superintendents to stope the ore ground during legitimate development to meet the running expenses of the mines, but the entire force of miners employed has been sinking shafts, running drifts or crosscuts, sinking winzes for blocking out the ground for stoping, making upraises for future production, without the least thought of making these improvements.

There seems to be a fearful deficiency of practical mining knowledge and business ability when the superintendent permits the ore bodies to be worked out before he attempts to open up other levels and sinking the shafts for the purpose of opening up new ground. Mining is a science that requires practical knowledge and application before a man can be successful under all conditions. Any woman can superintend a rich mine successfully provided she has good miners to direct the working thereof. Boulder county has expended a very large amount of the money invested for mining purposes in simply developing her mines, and except in a very few exceptions this method of mining has been carried out by the numerous companies engaged in mining operations. Yet those properties that have been shipping regularly have made the output of gold and silver very creditable. The estimate, without giving actual results in detail, places the yield of the county at $815,156, which is an increase over 1899 of $241,156. With this improved state of affairs under conditions

...Fisher of Denver Have the ...l Contract---Owners Will ...sh the Building and Em... ...by a Manager---Ready June 1.

Colorado Springs was let today to Messrs. Daniels & Fisher of Denver. This contract is probably the largest of its kind ever made in the west. It includes carpets, rugs, window shades, awnings, draperies, furniture, pictures, brass beds, mattresses, bedding, linens, silverware, kitchen furnishings ... and everything else that the big hotel with its 250 rooms will need. The owners of the Antlers are determined to have it furnished as handsomely as any hotel in America and are sparing no expense to make everything first class. Between $100,000 and $200,000 will be needed to supply the necessary furnishings.

It will be especially gratifying to Colorado people to feel that this hotel is to be furnished by a Colorado house. Heretofore big contracts of this sort have almost invariably gone to eastern people. On this occasion a dozen of ... firms were bidding, but Daniels & Fisher were the fortunate ones. They established the fact that their resources were equal for the work in competition with firms of the United States. It is the wish of the owners of the Antlers that as far as possible Colorado products should be used in the hotel, and in following this course the larger part of the contract money will go to Colorado workmen. For the materials which cannot be obtained in Colorado, orders will at once be placed with eastern manufacturers. Most of the furnishings will be made specially for the Antlers in designs created for this building. The furnishings are all to be in place by June. While the date for opening the hotel is somewhat distant, it will require most of the intervening time for the manufacturers to complete the special orders, rushed as they are at present with work resulting. It will be necessary to cable orders for such materials as the fine Irish linens which the hotel needs, so that the looms ... ment. He thinks that the cause of his death was due to the drinking of alcohol for the man could hardly stand up yesterday and his breath was heavy with the fumes of that drink. No one has identified the man as yet, and as he had no personal effects it is probable that he will be buried at the expense of the county as an unknown.

Critics Say Eduard Strauss is a Genius.

The musical critic of the Montreal Star usually enters a concert room with a ... and an expression of agonized submission much like that worn by a caged lion ... the performance which duty has called him to endure is really a pleasure and not a pain. Recently he attended five Strauss concerts in his ... radiant words of approval. He said:

"That Eduard Strauss is a genius there can be no room for doubt, and the best proof of it is in the excellent result obtained from his orchestra and the importance of his own compositions and arrangements of other works. The orchestra consists of between 40 and 50 pieces, and a more perfect combination it would be difficult to get. Composed all of picked musicians, it is, in technical skill, in balance of parts, and in the beauty of tone of the various instruments, practically above criticism. The strings are most beautiful and play as though one instrument. The french horns are exquisite and the winds unusually good; but all the members are also good that it is almost invidious to specify any one in particular. It is in the ensemble, however, that the skill and genius of Herr Strauss shines ... The only piece he conducted from a score was the 'Liszt Rhapsodie' No. ... All the others he conducted without ... it is a fact that he is familiar with about 1,500 pieces and can conduct them from memory. His conducting is no mere matter of form; it is scientific, virile and inspiring. Mannerisms he has in plenty, but they are spontaneous to his natural personality and do not mar his work, which always impresses one as being intensely sincere."

The only appearance here of the Strauss orchestra will occur on Wednesday evening, January 9, at the Temple theater.

Colorado Springs is to become the distributing point for the western distributing company of the Columbus Buggy company, one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the country. Mr. George L. Upon returning to Colorado Springs he will secure a suitable room for store and warehouse purposes and will open the western agency for the company. SUNDAY GAZETTE FEATURES.

TOMORROW'S GAZETTE will contain among other interesting features an article by Ellis Meredith upon the State Industrial home for Girls at Morrison, and a remarkably good story by S. F. Hamp of this city.

The article in the series on cosmopolitan Colorado Springs will deal with the Missourians.

A number of special articles referring to the progress of the world in the Nineteenth century and the probabilities for the century that has begun will also be found in this paper.

The regular departments will be fully up to their usual standard. The Washington letter from the Gazette's own correspondent is of special interest this week. The society columns will be of unusual interest and the century ball of the El Paso club will receive special attention.

The latest, most accurate and complete local and mining news will be found in these pages and the general news of the country will be fully covered by Associated Press, the Gazette being the only paper having the right to use Associated Press dispatches in this city on Sunday morning.

APPRECIATIVE LETTERS.

THE GAZETTE takes pleasure in publishing, as examples, two of the letters recently received commendatory of the New Year Gazette.

The first is from an officer of the Interna-tional Trust company; the second from a well known citizen of Colorado Springs.

Denver, Jan. 1, 1901.

Colorado Springs Gazette:

The New Year edition of the Gazette is a credit to your enterprise, and is bound to prove of great material [illegible] to your city and to the state. I [illegible] special edition which is more attractive, either as to mechanical work, general arrangement or the information contained.

Accept my best wishes for the Gazette for the new century.

Yours very truly,

Colorado Springs, Jan. 1, 1901.

Colorado Springs Gazette:

Please allow me to congratulate you upon publishing the finest New Year edition in the state. After comparing it with others, one is brought to the realization that we have published in this city a paper in every way second to none in the state or west. For a description of the resources of the state and the city more could not be crowded into the pages, and from a typographical standpoint it is hard to beat.

Your paper is so far ahead of the city that people do not realize what you are giving them, but time will come when the Gazette will certainly get its richly deserved reward.

With best wishes for the new year, I am,

Very truly yours,

PRESIDENT KRUEGER'S VISIT TO THE UNITED STATES.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT is made with some show of authority that Oom Paul Krueger intends to visit the United States, and that he will come to this country as one president to visit another, and that he hopes to receive a better welcome here than he received from the kings and emperors of Europe.

As this visit is quite likely to take place it is just as well for Americans to inform themselves in advance of what Mr. Krueger is, and of what he is not.

In the first place the question of whether he is a president or not goes to the very root of the whole difficulty. The war was fought between the allied South African republics on the one side and Great Britain on the other to determine whether the Boers had the right of independent national existence. The Boers claimed that they were independent and at any rate they proposed to be in the future, while the British claimed that the Boers were subject to the British empire in everything except the arrangement and control of their domestic affairs. The war resulted in the defeat of the Boers and the capture of their capitals and countries and at the present time Krueger is a fugitive. To recognize him as president in any official way, therefore, is not only to endorse the cause of the Boers as it existed at the beginning of the war, but also to deny the effect of whatever has been accomplished as a result of British triumph in South Africa. This, undoubtedly, the American government and the American people are not prepared to do.

Outside of this official aspect of the case, the American people have a very kind opinion and a great deal of sympathy for Mr. Krueger, whom we have grown to regard as a man of inflexible will, courage and purpose, and one who has shown evidences of greatness in a very manifest way. We sympathize with the Boers, and all the arguments of those who have declared that their republic was but the pretense of a slave-holding oligarchy have not been able to convince us that the Boers were not fighting honestly and most bravely for what they believed to be their freedom. President Krueger—for we may give him the title by courtesy if not officially—will probably find in the United States a larger number of well wishers and admirers than in any other country in the world, but that will not prevent the Americans from realizing that to attempt anything more for the Boers than has been attempted would be a piece of Quixotry in which they have no intention to engage.

There would be little danger of any error on the part of sturdy American good sense if it were not that in the event of a visit from the great Boer leader, an effort is sure to be made to use him as a puppet in the play of American politics. President McKinley has already done more than any other nation has done, and he has done all that can be done in a diplomatic and friendly way towards adjusting the strife between the Boers and Great Britain. But unfortunately, there is in this country a too numerous class that will think very much more of the possibility of doing something to embarrass the Republican administration than of the chance of helping the Boers. We already have had an instance of this in the way in which the Boer envoys were "worked" for the benefit of certain scheming politicians.

Therefore if President Krueger does come to this country it would be well for him and for his friends to distinguish between the sincere welcome that will be extended to him as a brave leader of a brave people, the [illegible] acclamation that he will receive from those who will try to use his popularity as a means of promoting their own [illegible] and the official recognition of his cause [illegible] the main object of his visit.

THE NEWEST NEWSPAPER.

THE GAZETTE is in receipt of a copy of the New York World for January 1, which was edited by Alfred Harmsworth, of London, as an example of his idea of what a Twentieth century newspaper should be.

It is evident that Mr. Harmsworth's ideal does not differ greatly from the newspapers of today. The most radical departure is a reduction in the size of the page, the New Year World consisting of thirty-two four-column pages.

The editorial page contains two notable articles, one by Mr. Harmsworth and the other by Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the World.

Mr. Harmsworth especially emphasizes the advantages of condensation and calls particular attention to a column of condensed news summaries such as the Gazette has been running for several months past, and declares that it enables the reader to master the main outlines of the day's events in sixty seconds.

Mr. Pulitzer's editorial is especially significant for the high character of what it professes. After quoting from an inaugural editorial and from a letter written by himself on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the new World building, Mr. Pulitzer thus summarizes the additions that he would make to his policy as previously outlined:

"Still more news.
Still more brevity.
Still more accuracy.
Still more reliability.
Still more and greater public service.
Still more non-partisanship and independence than ever and forever."

The World has a reputation of being somewhat sensational and "yellow," and it is a relief to find that its declaration of principles is one that any newspaper might [illegible] The manner in which such principles [illegible] carried into effect will differ in accordance with individual ability and character, but if the general purpose of the American press is at least as good as that set forth by Mr. Pulitzer, it certainly does not deserve a great many of the harsh criticisms that have been visited upon it.

In general it may be said that the twentieth century Harmsworth World is very far from being a sensational newspaper. It inclines toward sober headlines and fully colored facts. It aims at condensation rather than a flood of space-filling words. It uses illustrations intelligently and conservatively. It is a newspaper rather than a yellow [illegible] and there is more in it that tends toward a reaction in the public mind in favor of common sense and soberness and against hysteria and neurotics. If the Twentieth century newspaper is really going to be what Mr. Harmsworth expects, a great many persons will be most agreeably disappointed.

COLORADO'S GOLD AND SILVER.

THE preliminary estimate of the director of the mint for the production of precious metals in the year 1900 shows Colorado in a very favorable light.

Twenty-two states and territories are represented in the list as producers of gold, [illegible] in the order [illegible] amount: Colorado, California, Alaska, South Dakota, Montana, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, New Mexico, Washington, South Carolina, Georgia, North Carolina, Wyoming, Texas, Alabama, Virginia, Michigan, Tennessee, Maryland, the last named state being credited with an annual production of $136. Even more important than the leadership of Colorado is the important fact that it produced more than twice as much gold in 1900 as did its nearest rival, California, and nearly four times as much as Alaska, which is the third on the list. It may also be noted that the total amount assigned to Colorado is just about $7,000,000 greater than the production of the year for the Cripple Creek district as determined by careful local estimates.

Among the silver producers twenty states and territories are classed. Here again our state leads all others, the order being: Colorado, Montana, Utah, Idaho, Arizona, Nevada, California, New Mexico, Texas, Alaska, Washington, South Dakota, Oregon, North Carolina, Michigan, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee, the latter state being credited with the magnificent total of one ounce for the year. Colorado outranked Montana by about four million ounces, and beat Utah's record by some eleven million ounces.

The figures for the year show an increase over 1899, both in gold and silver, that for gold being $3,265,881 and that for silver, 3,846,042 ounces.

The figures indicate that neither in Colorado nor in the United States has the limit of gold production been reached, and we may safely expect that the present enormous total will be greatly exceeded in coming years.

LAST YEAR'S FIRE LOSSES.

THE FIRE loss of the United States and Canada last year was $163,362,250. Of this enormous sum it is probable that at least fifty per cent., and most likely more, was the result of carelessness and may fairly be set down as wholly unnecessary.

The two most important causes of destructive fires are undoubtedly drunkenness and kerosene, the former representing a source of carelessness that is extremely dangerous not only to the property of the individual thus affected but to that of all his neighbors. A more dangerous substance than ordinary kerosene could not well exist as a general household article, while the ordinary match is a close second in its dangerous capabilities.

A house lighted by electricity where the wires are carefully arranged and heated by a hot air or steam furnace according to proper plans and inhabited by persons who do not occasionally knock over lamps or scatter live coals on the floor or smoke in bed, or pour kerosene on a fire, or do other equally unreasonable things, is for all practical purposes, fire proof. The hundred and sixty-three millions of fire loss may fairly be regarded as pure waste, the tax which the nation pays for gross stupidity and dissipation. Only a small part of it represents the fair allowance that should in any event be made for loss from this source.

It is, however, satisfactory to realize that a great deal has been accomplished both in the way of fire prevention and of prompt extinguishment when once started. The improvement in fire apparatus and methods of organization is not less marked than that in construction, heating and lighting of our houses, and there can be no doubt that as electric lighting and furnace heating become more prevalent, and as houses are more generally built of brick and stone instead of the all pervading wood, the losses from fire will be greatly reduced, even if the states cannot be prevailed upon to take the view that the intoxicated person is a constant menace to himself, to his neighbors, and to the property of all of them, and that in every such case the state has the right to take proper means for its protection.

But a world without drunkards, kerosene, gasoline or matches would be an undesirable one for the insurance companies, for either no one would insure or else the rates would be so low that there would be no money in the business for anyone.

The fusionists in the legislature spent an hour and a half debating the distribution of seats among the members who are partially deaf. This is not a good indication for much business and little talk at the present session.

FROM THE PRESS OF THE NATION.

Great Britain and Her People.
(New York World.)

It is reported that some apprehension is felt in Great Britain over the forthcoming census, which is expected to show a decrease in the rate of growth [illegible] the decennial period. The very [illegible] rate tables of mortality of the United Kingdom keep close tally on the population, and the census in that will show a total of 41,297,000 against 37,880,000 in 1891—a total increase of 3,417,000 or 8.40 per cent. Compared with our increase of nearly 21 per cent. during our decennial period this increase looks small, but the British increase was much smaller and the British increase much larger than the figures show.

Out of our thirteen and odd millions of increase 3,857,000 came from immigration, and the total increase from immigrants and their children was not less than 4,250,000. Our increase from excess of births over deaths was more than 15 per cent in the decennium.

The increase of Great Britain [illegible] the native [illegible] earth. The figures for the last census are not complete, but the census of 1890 gave the number of immigrants to this country from the United Kingdom and Canada at 3,[illegible]. This figure will be smaller in the 1900 census, but it represents an increase of more than 6 per cent. in the British stock, bringing its actual rate of increase up to our actual rate.

If to this would the [illegible] of Britons who in the past ten years have [illegible] to Canada, Australia, India, South Africa and to all British possessions [illegible] it will show that the British increase by excess of births over deaths greatly exceeds the American rate and probably exceeds that of any other civilized country in the world.

Are Editorials Powerless?
(Chicago Inter Ocean.)

Alfred Harmsworth of the London Daily Mail expresses the opinion that the power of the press is not what it used to be. This he finds especially true of England. In that country the "leader," which says "the editorial or leader, which was formerly read and quoted by all men of intelligence, is now scarcely glanced at."

Possibly Mr. Harmsworth is mistaken as to England. He certainly is mistaken as to America. There have been scores of instances in the last three years to show that the American people not only read editorials, but are influenced by them. In fact, the events of the last three years show that the power of the editorial in the United States to create and lead public sentiment on vital questions has increased rather than declined.

The American editorial today is more than ever the interpreter of the news. How many men in the United States understood the tremendous significance of the destruction of the Maine before it was pointed out in the editorial columns of leading newspapers?

How many men in the United States understood the insidious [illegible] on our army and war department in the summer and fall of 1898, before a few courageous newspapers discussed the matter editorially in a way to expose the conspiracy and to arouse public sentiment against the conspirators?

How many men in the United States understood the scope of the first American proposals of The Hague peace conference before the Inter Ocean pointed out editorially that in effect the agreement presented the Monroe doctrine to Europe on a gold platter?

How many men in the United States realized when the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was submitted to the senate [illegible] surrender of American interests proposed in the pernicious Article III?

In every case few—very few. Yet, in response to the editorial interpretations, the people, each and every time, roused themselves to protest, and changed the whole face of the nation's [illegible] American politics.

Never in the history of American politics have the really strong newspapers of the country exercised more influence in shaping the policies than in the last three years. Never before were the American people so fully informed on public questions as they are today, and they are informed because of the intelligent interpretation and discussion in newspaper editorials. It may be admitted that a strong editorial page is not what is called a circulator, but it is true also that no newspaper ever gained great reputation without it. And this is particularly true of the very newspaper—the New York Sun—mentioned by Mr. Harmsworth as a model of American newspaper work.

[illegible] Mr. Harmsworth [illegible] may have voiced merely a passing notion. In fact, we are inclined to believe this the case. Otherwise we should feel obliged to class Mr. Harmsworth with the newspaper editors who lack the intelligence either to write or to understand editorials and that we should regard as a very painful alternative.

The Activity of the Boers.
(Providence Journal.)

The [illegible] South Africa continues to be interesting. The Boers are in the field in what appear to be constantly increasing numbers, and the [illegible] A correspondent writing from Bethulie declares that heretofore the British have not taken De Wet seriously enough. The fact is that he has formed the Boers in his army into a well-disciplined and effective force, and the [illegible] English understand this the better. Probably they have been compelled to understand it since the letter from Bethulie [illegible] soldiers in the [illegible]

MACHINE DRILLS IN ROSE MAUD

Good Will Tunnel And the St. Patrick Mine—Good Ore From Sunshine—Ruble Down 1,100 Feet.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Jan. 4.—Machine drills are to be put in use in drifting into Rose Maud territory by the Morning Glory Mining and Leasing company. The property is being explored at depth, the level being run from the 545 foot [illegible].

William Weston of Colorado Springs is in the city in the interest of the Good Will tunnel and the St. Patrick [illegible]. It is his intention to sublet the ground through which the tunnel runs, the work to be done on the tunnel level. The territory which extends from the portal of the tunnel to the Anaconda Leland mine with the exception of one or two claims is now under lease to the Good Will tunnel and a few active operators in that locality will make things hum.

The St. Patrick mine south of Victor is rapidly being developed and the shaft has attained a depth of about 500 feet. The work of sinking will be continued, however, until the 800 foot point is reached, when lateral work will be begun.

There is some excellent ore coming from the Sunshine claim on Galena hill which would partly account for the steady and strong advance in Sedan [illegible] stock. Owning the adjoining claim the Anna Belle, Lessee Killiam is sending out about two car loads per week, the ore running to good values, one sample which was assayed returning [illegible] shipping quantities. The [illegible] and although the gold does not show on the face of the rock, the soft pans very well. Those who are in a position to know more about Sedan than anybody else, [illegible] information is held very closely [illegible] cent shares for the stock in a short time. The lessees who have been working the Excelsior claim of the Anaconda company on Gold hill abandoned their lease on the first of the year, owing to the advance in royalties to be paid to the company and the advance in [illegible] low grade ore. They have been extracting considerable ore from the [illegible] foot depth but found they could not mine the values at 25 per cent royalty and gave up the proposition.

The Ruble workings of the Princess Alice company on Bull hill has been sunk to a depth of 1,100 feet. The last 100 feet in depth was attained by a winze from the 13th level. Good ore prevails in the bone, especially in the lowest workings, refuting the general depth theory in regard to ore reserve. Another winze was sunk on this level for a depth of 75 feet but the ore dipped out and will be followed up from another lift in the shaft. In the meantime the shaft is being timbered to await the installation of a new hoist before sinking is continued.

The books of the New Zealand company [illegible] dividend to be paid on January 10. The distribution amounts to $60,000 or at the rate of ten cents per share. The dividend was declared on the sale of property recently purchased by W. S. Stratton.

The Gold Belt Mine Investment company will hold a meeting of stockholders [illegible] at Victor, [illegible] for the purpose of ratifying the sale of the St. Patrick claim and of determining the future business policy of the company. Other regular business will be transacted.

POINTER AND MOLLIE DWYRE

Rumors About Their Ore—The Pointer is Said To Have $125,000 Worth of Ore Already Blocked Out and Can Make Big Shipments.

There was a rumor around town yesterday to the effect that the rich shoot of ore which was recently opened at a depth of 325 feet in the Pointer mine on Emley hill was pitching into the property of the Mollie Dwyre company, further up the hill. The action of the two stocks in the morning was, to some degree, corroborative of that rumor, but an officer of the company stated that it was mere idleness.

Accompanying the sharp advance in Pointer stock, which is not discouraged by any kind of an adverse rumor, are many stories of the richness and magnitude of the new strike in the bottom level. It is also said that the development work which has been done recently, instead of being merely a run through barren rock, has accomplished the blocking out of $125,000 worth of ore, which is now standing and will be broken and shipped at the rate of $25,000 a month, by which time there will be more in sight.

No work is in progress on the property of the Mollie Dwyre at present but the management is waiting until the time when the drift in the Pointer has progressed far enough up the hill to enable the shortest drift to be run into the Mollie ground for the purpose of ascertaining just how much of the Pointer vein it will get, and if the vein be mineralized at that depth.

When Pointer first came into prominence it was thought that the Mollie would undoubtedly get a part of the vein and vigorous work was started on company account, but afterwards from surveys which the management had made, this seemed somewhat doubtful and they determined to avoid the expense of sinking a deep shaft until they knew what it would be able to open.

FINDLEY WILL GO DEEPER

The Shaft Will be Put to the 800-Foot Level at Once—A New Compressor is to be Installed—Good Output Being Maintained.

Sinking has been resumed in the Steelsmith of the Findley mine on Bull hill, and will continue until the 800-foot point is attained when crosscutting will be commenced on [illegible]. The shaft is now 700 feet deep, where the ninth level has been run in ore of a fairly good grade, although much richer rock has been shipped from the mine.

The output is now averaging between 200 and 300 tons a month. With no effort at all the 200 tons is shipped, and an output of 300 tons can be easily made. The ore is running between one and three ounces in gold to the ton.

Lessee Steelsmith is contemplating the installation of a new and larger compressor to facilitate his work. There is a two-drill affair at work now which is operated by electric power, but the amount of work which [illegible] done in the mine calls for a larger compressor, and one will be secured capable of operating from four to six drills.

There is considerable amount of ore in sight at present of a fair smelting grade, and taken altogether the mine is in a better condition than it has been since the days of the bonanza ore in the Carpenter shaft.

AFTER THE JOE DANDY VEIN

The Bonnie Nell Company Has Started Crosscutting at a Depth of 200 Feet For This Vein Which Was Opened in Upper Levels.

In the shaft which the Bonnie Nell Gold Mining company is sinking on its claim of the same name located on Raven hill the 200-foot point has now been attained and crosscutting started for the Joe Dandy vein which was opened in the upper workings. The crosscut has now progressed for a distance of about 12 feet, and it is thought that 20 feet more will put it into the vein.

In the upper levels of this vein was opened after some crosscutting and found to be a very strong one, carrying scattering values. The indications, judged by other mines where similar appearances had been encountered at that depth, were that the values would come together with a little greater depth, so the company resumed sinking at once; and expects much from the opening of the vein at the present depth.

In any event, whether the vein still holds several depths of whether it carries shipping ore at 300 feet, the shaft will be sunk further and crosscutting started again at the 400-foot point. The Joe Dandy vein has been a very productive one, especially in the mine of the same name, and the Eclipse claim of the New Haven company has also had some rich ore from it.

Several other veins have been opened up on the Bonnie Nell, one of which dipped into the shaft during the last 100 feet of sinking and then dipped out again. This was also a promising one and will be thoroughly explored by the company which is prepared to go on and do vigorous development work.

AN ISABELLA CIRCULAR

Issued by President Nelson B. Williams—Permits an Examination of 12th Level to Prove Manager's Report.

A good deal of surprise was expressed in mining circles yesterday when it was learned that Mr. Nelson B. Williams, president of the Isabella Gold Mining company, had issued a circular to the stockholders. The circular was received by but few yesterday and this became a matter for criticism, but it is understood they are being sent out as rapidly as possible and all stockholders will receive one in time. This information is, however, unofficial.

A perusal of the circular shows very clearly that it was issued in defense of the attacks which have been leveled at the management of the company. It shows also very clearly that Mr. Williams has departed from his usual silent and conservative method and has seen fit to launch into explanation, bathos and invective, the good points of which may be questioned. The circular complains of cowardly insinuations, etc. There would certainly seem to be enough of innuendo and a sufficient lack of candor in some of the circular to merit for it the appellation which Mr. Williams has chosen to cast upon others.

Undue importance has been given to that part of the circular which gives minority stockholders the president's permission to inspect the 12th level of the mine. Manager Kilborn has stated over his own signature that the ore body has not been encountered in that level and it would seem that everyone believes this without desiring to test the veracity of the statement by personal inspection.

The circular, however, must stand on its own bottom. Here it is:

Colorado Springs, Colo., Dec. 31, 1900.
To the Stockholders of the Isabella Gold Mining company:

On December 30, 1900, there appeared in one of the daily papers of this city an attack on the report, dated December 22, 1900, of the manager of your company. In the article to which reference is made the following statement appears:

"It is possible that the management of the property is preparing to spring something on the public. It may be as suggested by well-informed mining men, that the big ore body generally supposed to exist close to where the twelfth level is being run will soon put in its appearance. It is stated that the manager is intentionally running alongside the ore body and occasionally drilling into it, sampling the cores of the drill to see if it is still there."

In order that the truth or falsity of this serious charge may be shown, I hereby offer to permit a thorough and complete inspection of the said twelfth level by a competent and reputable engineer or mining expert chosen by the minority stockholders who are the owners of at least 200,000 shares, out of 2,250,000 shares outstanding, of the stock of your company. Such examination must be thorough and complete of every part of said level and the report thereof must be in writing.

During the two years last past a small number of promoters and "sure thing" men operating in this city under the guise of brokers have continued to make charges of a similar nature to those quoted above. These attacks have been caused by the refusal of your officers to give to these adventurers information of the condition of your mine prior to giving such information to its stockholders, in order that they might use such information for their own gain. These attacks have been made orally, by letters, by circulars and through the daily press. Some of the charges have been in the form of positive statements, such as above quoted, while others have been in the form of cowardly insinuations, but the sum and substance of all have been that your officers have been dishonest and unfaithful to the trust which you have reposed in them.

These blackmailers have threatened to withdraw their advertising patronage if the daily press did not aid them, and at least one of the newspapers may have felt compelled to buy its peace. Business and professional men have been threatened with their displeasure and no method known to the vicious, the depraved and the [illegible] seems to have been neglected by them in their efforts to depress or destroy the value of your stock.

It is due to you and to your officers that you should know the truth concerning the charges made to you against them, and you are earnestly requested to bring or send all such matter, in whatever form it reaches you, to the company's office in order that you may learn the truth concerning the same. I feel sure that you will see the justice of this [illegible] [illegible] will believe no charge [illegible] investigated the matter and [illegible] given your officers the opportunity to show you the facts concerning it.

A large volume of legitimate business is transacted here by honest men as brokers between the buyer and seller of mining stock, but almost every investor has been injured by the practices of a few mining sharks who infest this city. I believe it is your duty [illegible] [illegible] within your power to expose such practices [illegible] and thus protect your own investments.

Respectfully,
Nelson B. Williams,
President.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

It is reported that some very good ore has been opened in the tunnel on the Climax No. 1 of the Little Puck company, [illegible] were obtainable in this city yesterday. This ground is being worked by the Climax Mining & Leasing company which recently started crosscutting for the tunnel vein from the bottom of their new 300-foot shaft. The stock was very strong on change yesterday, going above 13 cents, and this rumor of a strike was probably partly responsible for it. Little Puck, however, owns 600,000 shares of the stock of the St. Thomas company, which has been advancing during the past few days, selling yesterday as high as 8½. Work has been started on the property of the St. Thomas company on Beacon hill, and any reason which would cause St. Thomas to grow stronger would also tend to strengthen Little Puck.

WORK RESUMED ON THE INDEPENDENCE CONS.

Work was started again yesterday on the Hull City placer of the Independence Consolidated company, after a short suspension during the installation of a new compressor. Work will be directed now toward sinking and drifting [illegible] ate 15 drills and no difficulty will be experienced in operating several parts of the mine at once. The stop was made when the shaft was 850 feet deep and levels are still to be run at that point, and the shaft will be continued as rapidly as possible to the 1,000-foot [illegible] [illegible] been stronger lately since the first shock of the reopening of the suit has passed, and more confidence is manifested in the assertion of the management that they have spent a great deal of money in protecting the title of the Independence Consolidated company to the Hull City placer, and that there need be no cause for apprehension.

DRIFTING IN THE SANTA RITA MINE.

The shaft on the Santa Rita mine has now attained a depth of 600 feet and drifting started both ways on the vein. The ore shoot, however, is not of the fine appearance which it had when first encountered, but is erratic in values and varying between one and three feet in width. The machine drills which are used break up the rock in such a way that it is almost impossible to save any of the high values, and the screenings average about $50 in gold. The four-inch streak runs about 100 [illegible] and it is expected that in stoping this can be saved separately. Before stoping is started, however, it will be the policy of the management to drift for 600 feet at this depth. The Atlantis Mines corporation, composed of the Santa Rita lessees has until next November to take up the rest of the bond. They still have 600,000 shares to obtain, owning now only 400,000.

DESULTORY SHIPMENTS FROM THE NEW HAVEN'S ECLIPSE.

The lessees on the Eclipse claim of the New Haven company are sending out desultory shipments of ore which runs about $[illegible] in gold to the ton, all coming from the development work at the 125-foot level. The drift is being pushed at this depth, but no stoping is being done. The [illegible] the bottom of the 200-foot shaft has not yet been started and until the new vein is opened from that depth the exact value of the new vein will not be known. At present the indications are rather encouraging.

LILLIE SHAFT IS GAINING GOOD DEPTH.

The work of sinking the Lillie shaft to the 1,500 foot point, which was undertaken by contractors some time ago, is progressing with much satisfaction to the contractors and company, and there is now a reasonable prospect that the desired depth will be attained by the first of March. Meantime the Lillie is shipping enough ore to more than pay all the expenses of this development work. From the 800-foot level two cars a week are being sent out of good grade ore and Lessee Fitzgerald working in the upper levels of the mine is sending out between two and three cars of ore a week which average between $30 and $80 in gold to the ton. The Lillie will probably be the first mine in camp to have a shaft 1,500 feet deep, and a great deal will depend upon the results of their exploration work at this depth.

RUMORS OF ORE IN THE MOOSE MINE.

It is rumored that the Moose mine is in ore at a depth of 1,000 feet from the surface. The management has been drifting for a considerable time at this level, but the ore body which was so productive in the upper part of the mine was not forthcoming. In the past year the management has manifested great confidence in deep mining by sinking its shaft 600 feet below the point where the ore began to pinch, and it would be an encouraging development for the camp if the shoot were opened up at the present depth. The fact that the Moose has so deep a shaft in this locality and the growing sentiment of consolidation has given rise to many rumors to the effect that a combine would be effected and several properties on that slope of Raven hill be worked through the Moose shaft, but none of these rumors will boil down to a confirmation.

HIGH-GRADE STREAK IN GERMAN-AMERICAN.

In the territory being operated by the German American company a 10-inch streak of ore that samples give returns of between three and four ounces has been encountered. The officials are highly gratified at the showing on the Puzzle claim on Gold hill. The whole of the 10 inches gave returns. The [illegible] company is now saving ore and a shipment can be expected within a very short time. The property is making a splendid showing and the prospects for making a mine are bright.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, Jan. 4.—There was a great market again today on the Colorado Springs mining stock exchange. The trading was very heavy and prices were still on the upward swing, although the advances which were scored today were not quite so radical as they were yesterday and there were one or two [illegible] ... condition now, and the advice has been so hammered into the customers of many brokers to buy on declines and sell on advances that it is highly likely there will be considerable profit taking in the next few days, but the interest manifested in the stocks at their present quotations bids fair to meet the profit taking almost half way. The market as a whole is somewhat nearer the condition with the physical aspect of Cripple Creek warrants.

Sedan is still the heavy feature of the market as well as the mystery, although confidence is growing in the existence of oil in the property. Today the stock was a big trader and closed strong at 14⅝. Pointer and Mollie Dwyre were in evidence, the one rather weaker and the other gaining slightly, although Mollie lost fractionally in the afternoon, closing at 6⅞ regular. Pointer closed at 16⅝. Gold Dollar and Zoe were very strong, the former going up above 25 and the latter closing at 13½. The strike in Zoe is probably responsible for the strength in both of them. Beacon Hill-Ajax was strong at 6⅛, but Columbia [illegible] fall to 11¼. Battle Mountain [illegible] bid for Damon. Butterfly gained a little in the afternoon, but Elkton closed at $1.88¾ and Anaconda was weak at 45. El Paso, however, continued strong, and under good trading Prince Albert gained fractionally.

The sales for the day amounted to 1,515,259, of which the cash value was $186,231.

CASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This in Colorado Springs.

Scores of Colorado Springs people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such indorsement?

Mr. F. J. Webber of 119 W. Costilla street gives the experience of a boy of eight years of age. He says: "I was not in a position to watch him closely but from what his mother and aunt, who look after him, tell me, Doan's Kidney Pills have done him a great amount of good. For three or four years he had symptoms of kidney trouble; complained of his back hurting him, and was troubled with urinary weakness. Doan's Kidney Pills have checked this and he does not complain of his back any longer. My wife saw the pills advertised and got a box at Jones & Wellington's drug store. If my statement of this case will be of any use to you I am pleased to give it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's, and take no substitute.

The Latest Strike

In the Sunset district, California, is in Sec. 1, 11-21—the Arcola Oil company. When the tools were withdrawn a tremendous flow began, estimated [illegible] a day.

Possibly the Colorado and California Oil Co. can report an equally fortunate circumstance in 45 days. Their land is equally good, in fact better, in same district.

The Development of the Routt County OIL FIELDS

Shows indications of extremely rich oil in large quantities. Oil mining is more profitable and much less expensive than gold mining. Routt county is destined to be the greatest wealth producer of the state. It will vie with Cripple Creek as the richest territory of the west. If you got in on Cripple Creek after prices were up, don't miss it on Routt county. Get in at low flotation prices. The land of The Northwestern Oil and Coal Co. is in the very center of the oil basin. Investigate it.

EXCITEMENT ON EXCHANGE

SALES HIGHEST ON RECORD

Confusion Bordering on Frenzy Characterized the Session. Stocks Still Rising.

New York, Jan. 4.—Today was one of the most exciting days in the history of the New York stock exchange. The system of recording the transactions on the exchange is at the best very poor, but [illegible] in such a market as today are [illegible] likely to be lost from the [illegible]. But there can be no doubt that the aggregate sales for today exceed anything done before on the exchange. The recorded transactions footed up [illegible] compared with the previous record of 1,622,919 shares on November 12, 1900. There have been wider price movements than any of those made today in individual stocks, or in groups of stocks, but it is doubtful whether there has ever before been so [illegible] a [illegible] tion in the average price for all stocks [illegible] to the high price today. The confusion during the early hours of the market while the ultimate course of [illegible] was still in [illegible] [illegible] the late hours of the day when the demand was at its height, and prices were moving most rapidly [illegible] [illegible] of many thousand shares of stocks were handed about from hand to hand among the brokers [illegible] [illegible] show of placing [illegible] the extreme [illegible] the highly [illegible] some of the dealings, it is not exaggeration to say that vast fortunes [illegible] made [illegible].

The occasions are very rare when [illegible] so abruptly [illegible] [illegible] aration [illegible] sudden [illegible] tive excess. It would be useless to attempt to analyze closely the causes underlying such a market. [illegible] the bullish sentiment [illegible] up the stock market [illegible] past. The effect [illegible] days [illegible].

There are, of course [illegible] ing requirements from the beginning [illegible] ment which [illegible] terds, on the confident assumption that the reaction once established and [illegible] uidation started it was bound to run a lengthened course, but the actual buying for this element could have formed but a comparatively small proportion of the total transactions conducted today. The sentimental effect of the rebound on current opinion was far more worthy of account.

The day opened with the bears in a confident mood and they attacked the market with enthusiasm. The decidedly gloomy state of mind on the London stock market was of material aid to them and they were able to force [illegible] running from one to two points [illegible] the weakness of the market was not immediately overcome and there were notable losses all through the first hour. Yesterday's sharp reaction brought in profit taking and stop loss orders from many outside sources, but the evidences of support were sufficient even in the opening dealings to serve as a warning to the bears and they began to cover very early.

The rebound in Sugar on the story of a settlement of the [illegible] itself a backset for the bears. But the powerful lever which moved the whole market was St. Paul. The story [illegible] [illegible] released of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern on the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to state that the price moved [illegible] as a result [illegible] points from the low level on sales of over 243,600 shares. Notwithstanding feverish fluctuations the price closed within [illegible] of the top [illegible] with this the [illegible] was an upward movement [illegible] Northern Pacific of 8 points and in Great Northern preferred of [illegible] points. Without attempting to specify other individual movements it is sufficient [illegible] that the gains [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] with many stocks at [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] the bond market was not so general as in stocks and the weakness of [illegible] railroad bonds per [illegible] sisted. Total sales par value [illegible].

U. S. new 4s coupon declined ½; 4s [illegible] 4s coupon advanced ½.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—While the [illegible] business [illegible] terday and [illegible] days the tendency to relinquish lately made gains was checked and a substantial recovery recorded. Longs sold at the beginning of the session because cables were lower and outside interests were [illegible]. May opened [illegible] lower at [illegible]. A rally to [illegible] followed during the first hour on light [illegible] shipments. On profit taking the market, following this, reacted to [illegible], but this in turn was followed by a rally to [illegible] under the influence of the report that recently closed Minneapolis flour mills would resume work Monday, and buying by exporters. The Metal Market.

New York, Jan. 4.—Speculative dealings in the metal market were very meager. Today's cables from London furnished little if any incentive in either direction, but, however, the market displayed a general weak undertone in the absence of support from buyers. [illegible] Tin was very dull and nominally unchanged. Copper ruled dull closing at $17 for Lake Superior and 16⅞ for casting and electrolytic here and £72, 7s 6d in London. Domestic iron markets were without any change as to price or feature. Pig iron warrants $9.50@10.50, northern foundry $15@16.50; southern foundry $14.50@15.75; soft southern $13 [illegible]. English markets continue on their downward course, again scoring a loss of 1s 6d to 55s 6d at Glasgow and 6d at Middlesboro to 48s 6d. Lead was very dull and nominally quoted at [illegible].

The London Market.

New York, Jan. 4.—Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram: The markets here were flat at the opening today but a [illegible] took place in the afternoon on more favorable views of the outcome of the Whitaker-Wright group collapse. Americans were the center of interest. They opened hopeless on New York's overnight prices, sales [illegible] impossible in some cases, but presently good buying was observable at the [illegible] and when New York opened cheerful there was a sharp recovery with excited buying in the street, although the public is now inclined to fight shy. The bank lost £20,000 gold to the West Indies. The price was lower [illegible]. Money was plentiful.

The Coffee Market.

New York, Jan. 4.—Coffee—Spot—Rio dull; No. 7 invoice [illegible] mild quiet; Cordova [illegible].

This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take.
